UNIVERSITI Tun Abdul Razak (UniRazak) was established on Dec 18, 1997, as one of the first private universities in Malaysia.

Named after Malaysia’s second prime minister, the late Tun Abdul Razak, UniRazak is committed to becoming a principal centre of education.

At both the national and international levels, tourism and hospitality have become primary industries that require increasing number of knowledgeable and industry-driven staff.

Since its establishment, UniRazak’s Faculty of Hospitality and Tourism Management (FHTM) has become a leading centre for nurturing students into capable individuals who are ready to contribute to the development of the hospitality industry.

FHTM offers unique programmes on hotel management, tourism management, culinary arts and food service.

FHTM programmes comprise of an exciting curriculum combined with business fundamentals that feature a strong emphasis in the fields of service innovation, service technology and social responsibility; they also include a credit-bearing industrial training hence enabling students to gain real life work experience.

It has always been the university’s fervent belief that every student acquires the skills to lead and manage hospitality services in an ever expanding knowledge-driven economy.

Students will be equipped with the required knowledge through a challenging coursework that involves industry-related experiences.

UniRazak’s programmes centre on problem-based learning.

Also, it prepares students to acquire creative and critical thinking skills in business systems and processes, and strategies found in local or international hospitality organisations.

At present, FHTM has more than 30 full time academic staff active in teaching as well as research and publications.

Last year, UniRazak’s Graduate School launched the Master of Science (Hospitality Management) with specialisations in hotel, tourism, restaurant and food service.

Top professionals with a Master’s degree will have excellent career prospects at home and around the world.
