Varsity with the MSC status

UNIVERSITI Tun Abdul Razak (Unirazak) was established on Dec 18, 1997 as one of the first private universities in Malaysia. Named after Malaysia's second Prime Minister, the late Tun Abdul Razak, the university welcomed its first batch of 162 students in September 1998. On Dec 21 1998, the university was launched by Razak's eldest son, Prime Minister Datuk Seri Najib Razak, who was then the minister of education.

Since then, Unirazak has become one of the first private learning institutions in Malaysia to receive the SIRIM certification of ISO 9001:2000. The university has also been awarded the prestigious MSC-status certification, a testament to the university's commitment to integrating technology and innovation in its teaching and learning techniques.

Although Unirazak is a relatively new university, it is rapidly establishing itself as a centre for education. It views seriously its responsibility of shaping the minds of the young and the intellectual leaders of tomorrow. In its effort to produce competitive and capable graduates, the university constantly upgrades its syllabus according to current and forecasted industry standards.

While it aspires to render services of the highest quality, it is also highly accessible to the community. Its PINTAR campus in Petaling Jaya, for example, is just 30 minutes away from Kuala Lumpur and 45 minutes away from the KL International Airport. The Razak Campus is strategically located in between the Golden Triangle and the Central Business District right of Kuala Lumpur.

With 10,000 students studying in 62 academic programmes at the diploma, undergraduate and postgraduate levels, the university prides itself in developing programmes that meet today's and tomorrow's needs. All its academic programmes, which were developed in close consultation with business and industry partners, the public sector and professionals, are approved by the Malaysian Higher Education Ministry (MOHE) and are developed to meet the high standards required by the Malaysian Qualification Agency (MQA).

Presently under the auspices of the Tun Abdul Razak Educational Foundation (Yayasan PINTAR), Unirazak is embarking on the next phase of its growth. Its vision is to become the leading institution in providing quality education and human capital in niche areas among emerging economies. It also intends to enhance its cooperation and collaborative networks through strategic alliances with top-ranking international universities, renowned in their respective fields.

In executing these plans, Unirazak is repositioning itself as a private university that offers niche programmes. The university hopes to boost its presence in the global education market while offering its students a higher quality of educational experience. By continuously striving for excellence, Unirazak is well on its way in becoming an important educational institution in Malaysia and the region. By delivering a world-class learning experience, Unirazak aspires to be an institution that produces great thinkers who will become the accomplished leaders of tomorrow.

Unirazak offers a range of programmes at the undergraduate, Masters and PhD levels, and is noted for its programmes in business and entrepreneurship, government studies, IT, education, and tourism and hospitality.
